POLICE CAPTURE BANK BURGLAR

Speed Officers Collins and Trautwein Arrest Member of Gang That Robbed Huntington Park Branch of Los Angeles Trust and Savings Bank

GLENDALE POLICEMEN WHO CAPTURED BANK ROBBER

On the left is Patrolman Collins, who shot the fleeing robber. Patrolman Trautwein is on the right

The rounding up of the gang that robbed the Huntington park Bank was effected through quick work yesterday on the part of police officers Merle Collins and Walter E. Trautwein of this city.

Because of their promptness and efficiency in following a clew, Immanuel McKnight was taken into custody after he had been shot by Collins for resisting arrest, and at the receiving hospital where he was taken, McKnight made a full confession of his part in the crime, giving the names of his confederates.

When asked for the particulars of their participation in the chase for McKnight, Officer Trautwein, speaking for himself and Officer Collins, said:

Story of Arrest

"About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Julia Teitsworth, who conducts the gas station at the corner of Colorado and Glendale avenue, brought in to the Glendale police station a check for $20 which she had cashed for a customer who had bought $2 worth of merchandise. She took the number of his machine and found it belonged to Haskins & Kerr, 746 South Brand boulevard, and was a Ford which had been rented to the customer.

Becomes Suspicious

"Not liking the looks of the check which was signed 'Central Fruit Company' by the maker, who gave the name of Chapman, she brought it to the police station and Chief Lampert ordered us to follow on motorcycles and apprehend him.

"We went to Haskins & Kerr's place and waited, but on the way Officer Collins had a collision at Seventh and Figueroa. It wrecked his machine, but he was unhurt and I took him onto my machine behind.

"When McKnight drove into the garage one of us got on one side of the machine and one on the other, took him out and searched him, taking from him an imitation automatic gun, so like the real thing it would have deceived anybody.

"We took from the car the things he had purchased and I (Trautwein) started to telephone the Glendale police station. Officer Collins started back to the machine with McKnight, who made a break and ran out of the garage to Grand avenue with Officer Collins in hot pursuit, and I followed.

Attempts Escape

"Officer Collins shouted 'Halt, in the name of the law,' three times and shot three times in the air. McKnight didn't halt, and was getting away, and going west on Eighth. Collins then shot, and got him in the middle of the back. He fell on his face on the sidewalk.

"Officer Collins turned him over and kept the crowd back while I call-

BELFAST SEETHING WITH RIOTERS; MANY INJURED

After All-Night Rioting More and Worse Fighting Is Expected Today

BELFAST, Aug. 30.—Desperate rioting took place here throughout the night, and worse fighting is feared for today.

Fleets of armored cars dashed through the streets. Repeated police volleys failed to suppress the rioters. There were several attempts at incendiarism. The number of casualties incurred in the night fighting was not established early today. The engineers, drivers and cleaners of the Great Northern Railway went on strike at midnight in protest aaginst the ten hour working day.

LOGAN COUNTY IS AWAITING BATTLE

LOGAN, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Miners were gathering over the ridge from Logan this morning.

"They seemed restless and uncertain," was the message brought to the general headquarters of the Logan defense by air, horse and foot scouts.

Various estimates as to the strength of the invaders were made. In several groups 400 were reported. Other congregations were smaller.

The little town of Logan was strangely quiet today. Determined, stern-faced men with high-powered rifles on their shoulders, seemed everywhere last night. About midnight, rumors that the miners were breaking through the lines at Mill Creek, Georges Creek and Peach Creek, spread like wildfire here.

Reinforcements were dispatched to the dangerous points. Later in the night, the outposts brought in reports of movements of large bodies of men in "no man's land." The lines were strengthened at these points.

Machine guns were scattered throughout the mountains, on top of ridges and sweeping passes and rocky roads. It seems impossible that any party can pass.

Four hundred American Legion men were expected here from Welch and Williamson to assist in the defense. They will probably be stationed in the neighborhood of Blair, Clothier and Ethel, which lie approximately on the border between Boone and Logan counties.

It is at these points that miners are reported to be gathering in force.

EXPOSITION A HUGE SUCCESS

Visitors Purchase Goods in Large Quantities During First Two Days

From the standpoint of the merchants who are maintaining booths at the Glendale Merchants' Exposition, this exposition is already a success, although the affair is but two days old.

Many of the merchants claim that the great expense to which they have been put in the creation of their various wonderful booths has already been more than repaid, and they claim that by the time the remaining five days of the show have elapsed the sales actually made will be several times as large as the entire cost to them of participating in the finest show this character that Glendale has ever know, and many new, permanent customers have been made.

From the standpoint of the management of the exposition the success of the venture was never in doubt. It was a foregone conclusion. The manner in which the merchants of this place snapped up the available space for show purpose, proved that they are a bunch of live wires and are ready to participate in anything that will have a tendency to boost Glendale.

Merchants Sought Friends

The idea of many of the merchants in securing booth space in this exposition was not, primarily, to make money. It was to enable the people of Glendale to get beter acquainted and that is without doubt the greatest benefit that will be derived from the exposition.

The merchants wanted to demonstrate to the people of this valley that the storekeepers of this town constitute a mighty fine bunch of tradesmen; that they are ready and willing

West Virginia Calls On United States

Miners Gather at Logan County—State Swarms With Armies of Men Armed With High-Powered Rifles and Machine Guns—Revolt Steadily Spreading

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—President Harding has reached no decision on the renewed appeal of Governor Morgan that the federal government intervene in the threatened disorders in West Virginia and send troops to disperse armed bands now forming.

Secretary of War Weeks made this announcement this afternoon, following a conference with the President which lasted an hour and one-half.

The President will confer with the secretary again at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when a decision may be reached.

Secretary Weeks went into conference with the President at 10:15. He was accompanied by a delegation of prominent West Virginians who were to urge sending troops.

The secretary said that martial law would undoubtedly precede the dispatch of troops to West Virginia. The proclamation of martial law, drawn last May when the situation was threatening, is still available and can be used immediately, the secretary said.

President Harding has declined to call a joint conference of the West Virginia miners and operators, as suggested by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, it was announced at the White House today. The President advised Lewis in a telegram that the senate committee investigating the Mingo disorders will make a field inquiry on September 19 and stated that he believed this committee could do more to alleviate conditions than a joint conference of operators and miners.

The White House refused to make public the text of the telegram to Lewis, stating that publication was subject to the wishes of the mine leaders.

MINERS ENCAMPED IN BATTLE LINE

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 30.—A big battle is reported imminent today near Blair, Logan county, between 3000 armed miners and deputy sheriffs, state police and citizen volunteers. A camp of the invading miners was reported established near Blair, across a hollow from a spot where a large force of deputies under orders of Sheriff Chafin of Logan county has been concentrated to prevent the miners from going further into Logan county.

Reports from points in Boone county indicate a very serious situation. Reports reaching here today were that the army of miners is being constantly augmented. Mere boys armed with rifles are among the invading host.

MADISON REPORTS MOVEMENT OF MEN

MADISON, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Striking miners who last week began a march from Marmet, Kanawha county, to Mingo county, and who were induced to abandon their march at this place and return to their homes, have again left their homes and are moving into Logan county in bands numbering from a dozen to as high as 200 men, County Prosecutor Mullens, of this place, said today.

For the most part, Mullens said, the strikers are "trickling" over the county line into Logan county, into the district into which Sheriff Don Chafin of Logan county said "they shall not pass." Some are making the invasion on foot, Mullens said, but the greater number are going into the forbidden territory by automobile or train.

All day Monday and last night, as well as Sunday, the striking miners from the Coal River region were passing through Madison on their way to Logan county to join forces with the striking miners there, Mullens said.

GERMANY CENSORS PRESS AND WARNS ALL RADICALS

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—There was a disposition in conservative quarters today to minimize the dangers of a counter revolution despite the evident anxiety on the part of government officials and the sensational warnings in the press. It was pointed out that, while the alarm cry has gone up that the republic is in danger, there has not been a single concrete movement on the part of either the militarists or the communists.

There was an atmosphere of keen tension, however, resulting from the government proclamation of Monday night and beginning a press censorship and warning all agitators of heavy penalties.

The fresh troubles besetting the republican government have arisen from the assassination of the liberal leader, Mathias Erzberger.

According to the democratic press, the assassination was a definite development in the plans and plots of the militarists and royalists against the Ebert government.

A delegation of labor union leaders has called upon Chancellor Wirth and demanded reorganization of the Reichswehr and dismissal of the anti-republican officers so the troops could not be utilized in a royalist uprising.

The laborites also seek an investigation of the judiciary, claiming that militarists were being acquitted and severe terms of imprisonment were being imposed on socialist and communist sympathizers.

The Patriotic Soldiers' Association has served an ultimatum upon the government demanding that the proposed socialist demonstration tomorrow be prevented.

Chancellor Wirth has promised the democratic element—including representatives of the workers—that the government will preserve order and will adopt ruthless measures if any attempt at violence is launched.

The socialists are planning a gigantic demonstration tomorrow afternoon to protest against nationalist activity. The Berlin police are taking special measures to preserve order.

BURGLARS OPEN UP SWINDLERS' LOOT IN SECURITY BOX

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—A cache, believed to contain millions of dollars in securities and loot of the Charles W. French $50,000,000 swindle trust was located today in the plundered vaults of the Security Trust company. This was learned during an investigation of the $224,000 hold up there Sunday night.

A huge safety deposit box, believed cramed with bonds and securities, is held by "Honest John" C. Worthington, chief aide to French, under the name of "John Whitehouse."

OIL MEN IN MEXICO

MEXICO City, Aug. 30. — The American oil interests will do everything possible to facilitate a settlemen of the Mexican petroleum troubles, said E. L. Doheny, president of the Mexican Petroleum Co., today. "We wish a speedy settlement of the controversy and expect a settlement to result from our conferences."

Following the meeting of the American oil men with Secretary of the Treasury de la Huerta on Monday afternoon a conference was scheduled for today with President Obregon.

NEW STATE BANK TO OPEN ABOUT 15TH

While the State Bank has not set a definite date for its opening, President A. R. Eastman says it will be somewhere around September 15, in all probability.

The vault doors are being hung today and the glass front of the building will go in tomorrow. The laying of the tile floors and the decoration of the walls will be begun Thursday.

L. R. Black, who has been with the Title Guarantee & Trust Co., has been engaged to handle escrows. He has come to Glendale to live and has purchased a home at 607 North Howard from Dr. Arthur L. Shelhorn.

George Farmer, who comes to Glendale from Hollywood, will act as teller.

Miss Nellie Black, of Los Angeles, has also been employed, and has leased an apartment at 331 West Hawthorne street.

Miss Black is not related to L. R. Black and has not been acquainted with him. She has had much experience in bank work, however, and served as assistant cashier in several different banks in Arizona, in one instance working under F. C. Scovell, who is to have charge of the bank that is being established in Tujunga. Miss Black has quite a circle of friends in this city.

SINN FEIN REPLY IS EXPECTED WEDNESDAY

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Belief was expressed in government circles today that the Sinn Fein reply to Premier Lloyd George's note of last Friday would not be received until tomorrow, and possibly Thursday. The fact that the Sinn Fein leaders at Dublin held only a brief conference Monday had led to a report that the reply already had been dispatched to London. The Sinn Fein is expected to announce the date when the republican envoys will come to England to continue direct negotiations with Premier Lloyd George.

TO INVESTIGATE KLU KLUX

CHICAGO, Aug. 30.—Complaints concerning the purposes and practices of the Klu Klux Klan which have been made to federal officials during the past three weeks, are being made the basis today of a federal investigation of that organization. John V. Clinnin, assistant U. S. district attorney declared today that the matter would be brought to the attention of the grand jury and indictments asked if results of the inquiry warrant.

Lines which the inquiry will follow, according to Clinnin, include a probe of the charge that the klan is an "absolute monarchy" and opposed to public policy; that it collects $10 yearly from each of its members without making an accounting and that it charges $6.50 for regalia worth only $2. Acceptance of this money, it is claimed, automatically makes the organization a corporation operating for profit.

UNEMPLOYMENT IS A CONSPIRACY, SAY LABOR LEADERS

American Federation of Labor Makes Report to Committee of Congress

By MILDRED MORRIS
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—In a sensational report made public today the legislative committee of the American Federation of Labor charges a "conspiracy" by congress "to cause unemployment" and declares it responsible for the jobless condition of six million workers.

"Hunger parades" are predicted by the report which declares they will comes as a result of "these nonconstructive and reactionary policies of congress."

Unemployment, it declares, is growing at a rapid rate.

"The secretary of labor submitted a report August 16, that there were 5,700,000 unemployed," the statement said. "This does not tell the whole story. There are other millions who work only two or three days a week.

"No greater indictment of the failure of congress to enact constructive legislation could be found.

"Bills for the reclamation of waste lands and for housing have been introduced in both houses of congress, but nothing has been done about it.

"Any bill that has for its purpose public works that will give employment to the idle is disregarded."

The report adds the warning that "congress must get down to business and legislate for the great masses of the people instead of for a privileged few."

The big drive for new members for the Glendale Chamber of Commerce has proven to be the biggest thing of its kind ever held in Glendale. At the beginning of this drive it was thought that possibly one hundred new members could be secured. With a great big proposition before him, Assistant Secretary E. F. Sanders started on his rounds of the merchants and professional men of Glendale. He realized that he had "some" job on his hands, but he sailed right in, determined to get that 100 members or know the reason why.

After less than three weeks of work he has gone over the top in good shape. During the last week 34 candidates for membership to the chamber were secured, and at the meeting today these were taken into membership. These new members were secured from all parts of the city and from many different trades and professions. They included merchants, professional men and private citizens, this fact proving that all of the people of Glendale realize that it is their duty to become connected with the chamber for the upbuilding of the city as a whole, for whatever helps the city at large likewise helps the individual.

DAMAGED

C. OF C. PASSES RESOLUTIONS ON DEATH OF HERO

Committee on Patterson Avenue Park Program of Enlargement

At the noon-day meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce today, it was decided that the chamber shouud honor the memory of Seargent John A. Shaeffer, the gallant Glendale lad who so bravely went to his death in a charge against the foe in the Argonne forest on September 26, 1918. In order to show its respect for this organization will close its doors for the hours during which the funeral will be held.

"Of course we want to show our respect for this lad who has so gallantly fallen for the good of humanity," said Secretary Rhoades of the Chamber of Commerce this morning. "And at the same time we desire to express our deep sympathy for the dear mother of this boy and for all of his other relatives. Although this young man died in the most noble of causes we cannot forget that he is no longer with us. We cannot do too much to make things brighter for his loved ones who remain."

To further show its respect in this matter the Chamber adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas John A. Schaeffer was formerly a resident of Glendale and was highly respected and loved by his many friends here, and

"Whereas, at the call of his country he did enlist in Company B, 364th Infantry, and did go to France to fight and die in the Argonne Forest on September 26, 1918, be it, therefore

"Resolved, that the Glendale Chamber of Commerce extend to the bereaved mother and his other relatives the hearfelt sympathy of the Chamber, and that it is the wish of every member of the Chamber that God may succor and sustain them in this, the hour of their sorrow, and be it further

"Resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce and that a copy shall be given to the bereaved mother, Mrs. Lena Schaeffer.

Park Committee Reports

The committee on the Patterson avenue park, consisting of J. R. Grey, John McMullen and C. D. Lusby, submitted the following report on the possibly enlargement of the Patterson avenue park:

"We have interviewed C. S. Hahne, executor of the Hahne estate, owners of the adjacent land and have been advised that the estate is now in the count of settlement.

"The executor suggests that if it is necessary, for the City of Glendale to secure this land now, an offer could be made which he would submit to the court of approval. It is impossible for him to make an outright gift of the land to the city, no matter how well he is disposed to do so.

"Your committee also requested Mr. Hahne on the attitude of the estate in selling an additional ten acres immediately adjoining the park on the north and extending to the Pacific Electric tracks, and recommends that an offer be made to the Hahne estate in the sum of $10,000 for twelve acres. As this is less than one-half of the value of the land in this district, your committee believes that this offer should be made without delay, and the necessary steps taken to secure it to the city before prices further advance. We have the assurance of Mr. Hahne, that he will cheerfully consent.

"Should the city secure the land referred to it would become the owner of this extension to the Pacific Electric tracks, and the solve the matter of the reopening of Kenilworth avenue at the same time. Mr. Hahne also agrees to cooperate with the city in the opening and extension of Patterson avenue to the junction of Grand View avenue and San Fernando road and asks for a slight change in the right-of-way recently desired by the city.

"Your committee suggests that the necessary authority be obtained from the City Council to negotiate in the above matters so that definite results may be obtained."

SAGE TEA DANDY TO DARKEN HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe To Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

PETTY LARCENY IS AGAIN PREVALENT IN GLENDALE

The tool thief is again on the job. P. W. Sherwood reported yesterday that the following tools and other materials were stolen from 654 West Alexander street night before last: Two inside locks, brass finish; one double-acting door hinge, three Disston saws, one Staley jointer plane, one Staley smooth plane, one block plane, one 19-inch iron level, one 12-inch sliding tri-square, one Yankee screwdriver, one Stanley scraper, one Miller-Falls brace and one small screwdriver.

The tools mentioned in this list were the property of J. G. Gunnerson of 619 Angeleno avenue, Burbank.

NEW RESIDENT IS VERY ENTHUSIASTIC

One of the enthusiasts of Glendale is Mrs. Anna Burkey, who came to California from Tulsa, Okla., with her son H. T. Burkey about two years ago and spent some time in Berkeley. But when she wanted a home she came here and purchased. In July she was joined by her husband, N. Burkey, who had freed himself from interests in Tulsa.

Sunday the Burkeys entertained Dr. Milton H. Stine, pastor of the First Lutheran Church of Hollywood, whom they knew twenty years ago in Pennsylvania. He has accepted a call to the Hollywood Church and will soon be joined by his wife, who is now in Wilmington, Del.

Miss Rosa Burkey left Sunday morning for Tulsa. She expects to be gone about three months and will then return to stay permanently.

Mr. and Mrs. Burkey's daughter and son-inlaw, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Eitzman, who were recently married in Tulsa are now in the east on an extended wedding tour but will join the Burkeys some time in December and select a home somewhere in Southern California.

Mrs. Burkey is so in love with the climate and scenery of Southern California that she says she cannot understand how anyone can keep from following the example of John McGroarity and writing prose and rhymed poetry.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC PLANS FIGHT ON FREIGHT RATES

The formation of employes' committees to direct the Southern Pacific Company's September campaign to prevent loss and damage in freight handling, is proceeding rapidly on the various divisions of the Pacific system from Portland to El Paso, and the committees' personnel should be complete several days before the big drive starts, September 1, according to R. G. Fagan, superintendent of freight protection, Southern Pacific Company.

Fagan points out that the idea of the campaign is to demonstrate what it is possible to do in handling freight without loss or damage, the success of which means improved service to the shipper.

While the reduction in losses through claims for lost and damaged freight will benefit the company, the shippers will share as well, inasmuch as delays and annoyance from lost and damaged freight are as little relished by the shippers as by the railroads.

The committees are being formed by the stationmen, trainmen and yardmen, and every section along the Southern Pacific lines will be represented on the general committees or sub-committees. As soon as they are organized the committees will hold conference to evolve plans for improving handling of freight and for the education of shippers to the importance of careful marking, packing and loading of consignments.

Fagan says that the amounts by which the net earnings of class 1 roads have been reduced through loss and damage payments without any corresponding benefit to shippers of freight, increased from $23,346,965 in 1916 to $104,398,930 in 1920.

Merchants' Exposition Is Huge Success

to meet the people of the valley more than half way and that they are maintaining prices for merchandise in Glendale that cannot be cut, even by merchants in Los Angeles.

Get Acquainted Idea

This get-acquainted idea is gradually being accomplished. The spirit of good will that is being manifest between the people of Glendale and the merchants is good to see. In fact, the exposition is working out just as it should work out. It might be termed a great big "get together" party, for such it is proving to be.

It is a fact that two years ago such an exposition as this could not have been put on in Glendale. It might have been attempted, but it would never have proven the success that this affair is proving to be. This fact is the result of the wonderful growth that Glendale has made during the past year or so, along both the residence and the business line. A citizen who has been away from Glendale for a few weeks expressed the idea correctly when he said:

Returned Citizen

"You leave Glendale for a month or so, and when you come back you have to learn it all over again. New houses have arisen like magic and business establishments are going up where one never dreamed there would be a demand for them."

True it is that one can visit a certain section today and see only desolate vacant lots, but tomorrow beautiful homes have begun to arise on these same lots. In one block on the west side of the city 36 new residences have been completed in a little over a year, and one street only two blocks long where 18 months ago not a house was to be seen, is now almost completely lined with residences.

Pictures Daily Life

The greatest scene of all in Glendale's every day picture life is this exposition. All of the exhibits rank very highly and compare very favorably with any seen in recent years in the industrial expositions put on by the largest cities on the coast. These exhibits fairly talk, so ingenious are the designs. Every resident of Glendale should take pride in urging transients and visitors to Glendale to attend this wonderful pageant of industry and thereby get some conception of Glendale's marvelous business resources.

The program that was given last night at the big tent was better than anything thus far presented by the exposition management. It is the intention of those in charge to make each night's program even more entertaining than anything that has gone before.

There will be a diversity of entertainment features offered, so that those who have seen the show may go again if they so desire, and may feel sure that the features on the program will be different from those seen on any previous occasion.

TRAIN SCHEDULE CHANGED

Effective yesterday, train service over the Tonopah and Goldfield Railroad will be daily except Sundays, according to advices received by C. S. Fee, Traffic Manager for the Southern Pacific company.

TWO FAMILIES DRIVE HERE IN AUTOS FROM TOLEDO

W. D. McCarthy, wife and two children, also J. J. A. Parker and wife, Mrs. McCarthy's parents, from Toledo, Ohio, who drove out to California in their autos, arriving a week ago, are located temporarily at Alhambra but are very favorably impressed with Glendale, which they saw for the first time yesterday, though they had heard much of it in their eastern home. Mr. Parker is an old-time newspaper man with over 40 years' experience in which he rose from "devil" to publisher. He and his son-in-law jointly owned and conducted weekly newspapers in West Toledo and Sylvania, Ohio. These they recently sold and then decided to come to California. They hope to enter some kind of business that will enable them to live in Glendale. They are old friends of Charlie Van Dusen, 316 East California avenue.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HOME FROM BEACH

The Soangetaha Camp Fire Girls returned yesterday from Seal Beach, where they had been spending a week. The girls who enjoyed the entire time were Emma Laura Cooper, Flora Mae Magee, Mildred Thompson, Mary Cook, Josephine Farnham, Juanita Mulikan and Alice Sarrow. Misses Dorothy Watson and Regina Strasser joined the party toward the latter part of the week and came home with them.

"McKnight was taken to the receiving hospital, and in searching through his clothing there several checks which he had written in different names were found, also a marriage license and numerous other things.

Burglar Confesses

"While lying on the table and being examined by the doctors he confessed to having been sent from Fresno to the penitentiary in 1918 for highway robbery; that he was a parole violator, that he had cashed 800 forged checks since he got out of the penitentiary in November, 1920, and finally that he was one of the gang that robbed the Huntington Park bank last week,

"He gave an accurate description of the gang and their location, telling how the money was split. He gave the name and address of his sister and of his sweetheart, who came to the hospital. He wrote notes to both his sister and his sweetheart to be given to them in case he died before they arrived.

"His San Quentin number was 32085."

When asked whether he and Officer Collins would get a reward, Trautwein said he didn't know, that usually there was a reward of $250 paid for the apprehension of a bank robber.

Shot Through Back

Police surgeons who operated on McKnight said the bullet had entered his back, just to the right of the spinal column and had passed upward toward the left, probably cutting or seriously injuring the spinal cord. His nose was badly bruised, also, and three teeth had been knocked out, probably caused by his fall to the sidewalk.

Officers announced, however, that none had identified any of the quartet as criminals further than the identification several days ago of Loveless by at least two persons as the leader of the five men who took part in the robbery.

It was announced late yesterday that complaints would be issued either last night or early this morning, charging Claude W. Loveless, Fred G. Milliette and Russell Jefferies with the crime at Huntington Park.

William Searby, the fourth man under arrest, will be held for further investigation, it was said.

Announcement also was made that the men would be arraigned today in justice court at Huntington Park for the robbery. Judge A. B. Taylor of Whittier probably will preside over the court, in the absence of Justice of the Peace Thomas V. Cassidy.

MISS WARE HOSTESS AT PARTY TONIGHT

Miss Eloise Ware, of Whittier, county superintendent of social work, will be at the Glendale district Christian Endeavor party to be held this evening in the Tropico Presbyterian church, and will lead in the games and assist the hostess ocmmittee in entertaining the big crowd of young people. Both Christian Endeavorers and Epworth Leaguers are expected to be there.

ARRESTED FOR INTOXICATION

Officer Delgardo arrested Leo Brashear and Leon Francard last evening at Los Feliz and San Fernando roads, both intoxicated. They had been in Brashear's auto, which he had attempted to drive but was too far gone to be able to do so. Francard, who lives at 414 West Los Feliz road, was fined $10 for intoxication, and Brashear, charged with an attempt at felony, was arraigned and Judge Lowe demanded cash bail of $200, which the prisoner is trying to raise.

G. H. KING OF PORT ANGELES IS HERE TO LOCATE

G. H. King, who has been practicing in Port Angeles for the past six years, has decided that he wants to try life farther south, and with his wife and three children has come to Glendale to locate as a resident and practicing attorney.

H comes equipped with the finest of personal letters of indorsement from the two representatives of Washington in the United States Senate, Senators Miles Poindexter and Wesley L. Jones, and a similar communication from H. M. Fisher, mayor of Port Angeles, commending Mr. King's work as city attorney. The list likewise includes a letter from Mr. King's banker, S. J. Lutz, of the Bank of Clallam County.

Aside from his work as city attorney, Mr. King has been actively engaged in the general practice of law in civil and criminal cases and expects to handle the same kind of cases here.

He is an ardent admirer of the work of chambers of commerce and one of his first acts after deciding to locate here was to enroll as a member of the Glendale body.

Mr. and Mrs. King have leased the home of John Mathis, 727 South Maryland avenue. Mr. Mathis is going back to Tennessee to look after his harvesting and marketing of his farm crops, and will be away for several months. He will give possession September 10.

SAN FERNANDO ROAD AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

A car being driven by Julius Mussbaum, 6515 Buela Vista Way, collided yesterday with a Dodge car, the owner of which could not be learned, at the corner of San Fernando road and Los Feliz road. The cars were slightly damaged.

W. Ruffer, 108 Oak Terrace, reported yesterday that at 7:30 in the morning the car which he was driving collided at the corner of San Fernando road and Los Feliz avenue, with a machine, the license number of which was 189357. Mr. Ruffner claims that the driver of the other machine was to blame for the accident.

THE DEY'S EXPECT VISITORS

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Dey are eagerly anticipating next Saturday when they expect their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Debben to arrive from Chicago. They are coming for quite an extended visit to see how they like Southern California in the summer. If the verdict is favorable they may eventually come here to live. Mr. Debben is in business in Chicago.

A SUPER-DAREDEVIL SEEKS RISK FOR FAMILY'S SAKE

All those motion picture "stunt" men fade into insignificance alongside the movie "daredevil" who asked Buster Keaton, frozen-faced comedian, for a job recently. Accosting Buster, he said:

"Mr. Keaton, I am in need of a job. I haven't worked for some time, and my wife and kiddies need foor and the rent is unpaid. They are starving and I must get something to do."

"But we have nothing," replied Buster, going down into his pocket, ostensibly to get a greenback to give the man.

"Oh, yes you have," was the retort. "I can make myself valuable. You have a scene where a horse is to plunge over a cliff with a rider. You plan to double expose the scene so that no one will be hurt. I'll tell you what—I'll ride the horse and carry a parachute. When the horse plunges over the cliff I'll open the parachute and sail to safety."

"You said your family is starving?" Buster stated. "Well, if that's the case, they wouldn't have money enough to bury you after you tried that stunt. "Here!" And he handed a greenback over."

"Daredevils—well, he's that and then some," was Buster's only comments as he returned to work.

Y. M. C. A. BOYS' CAMP OPENS IN CANYON

Rex Kelley is taking a party of 12 or 15 boys this morning to the Red Triangle cabin in San Gabriel Canyon for an outing of several days.

The latter part of next week, he will take another party to the same place, and that will end the summer camping activities. Group work will begin with the opening of school and as long as the weather holds good there will probably be week-end hikes to the Red Triangle cabin.

The last of this week, delegates from Glendale will go to the High-Y conference in the camp back of Mt. Wilson. The party will include Secretary Rex Kelley, G. Edwin Murphy, leader of one of the High-Y groups, Dale Wood, Paul Edmonds, Alton Mattice, George Jordan. Mr. Murphy is today attending a dinner for leaders, which is being given in Los Angeles, preliminary to the conference.

It will be remembered that the Y. M. C. A. camping season started with a big mountain camp for 166 boys, 80 of whom came from this district. Since then there have been a number of week-end camps at the Red Triangle all through the summer.

'BRONZE BELL' IS LOCAL MAN'S WORK

The picture recently filmed by James W. Horne of this city for the Ince Company, "The Bronze Bell," from the story by Joseph Vance, is being shown tonight, Tuesday, at the Palace Grand.

Mr. Horne feels he is entitled to a rest. He and his stepfather, A. T. Dobson, are going dove shooting the first of September, and early next week the Dobsons, Mr. and Mrs. Horne and the twins, Jimmie and June Horne, will motor to the Yosemite for a stay of about three weeks.

GLENDALIANS AT BURBANK MEETING

Sunday evening, the young people of the Tropico Presbyterian church Christian Endeavor society went to Burbank and assisted in a C. E. program, which was led by Miss Carol Duncan of this city.

Others from this city who participated were Miss Dorothy Thompson and Miss Helena Richardson, who sang a duet for which Miss Ruth Goldsborough furnished the piano accompaniment.

Herbert Bruck and Walter Sullivan gave a dialogue on the meaning of the ten commandments, which was the topic for the evening.

The Glendale group included Ruth and Frances Goldsborough, Janice Kaley, Norma Wallace, Georgie and Dorothy Thompson, Margaret and Helena Richardson, Neville and Harry Richardson, John Server, Walter Sullivan, Herbert Bruck, Miss Coke and Miss Carol Duncan.

RALPH TAYLOR TO CRUISE SOUTHWARD

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. MacLennan, 356 West Lexington drive, gave a dinner on Saturday evening in honor of their nephew, Ralph C. Taylor, who is absent from his steamship, the Yorba Linda, for a few days.

The guests were old-time friends of Mr. Taylor: Messrs. Lee Smith, Paul Hodge, Gilbert Mitchell, Sloan Freeman, and Hugh Freeman.

Mr. Taylor is about to sail on the Yorba Linda as third assistant engineer for a lengthy cruise along the coast of South America.

GUILD TO RESUME

St. Mark's Guild will resume its regular meetings September 8, with a luncheon for members in the Guild Hall of the Church. It is hoped there will be a large attendance as there will be important work for the fall to be discussed. The luncheon will be served at 12:30.

IRON AND STEEL FREIGHT RATES ARE REDUCED

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Important reductions in freight rates on iron and steel products from eastern points of manufacture to the Pacific coast have been decided upon by the transcontinental railroad lines, according to G. W. Luce, freight traffic manager for the Southern Pacific Company. The reduced rates have been checked in by the transcontinental carriers and efforts are being made to get the concurrence of the lines east of Chicago to the reductions so that they can be published and be placed in effect at the same time that other westbound transcontinental rates are reduced, October 3, to meet steamer competition through the Panama Canal.

Deep Cuts Made

The reductions run as high as 40 per cent. Luce states that the lines operating in what is known as Trunk Line and Central Freight Association territory, which is that section east of Chicago and north of the Ohio and Potomac rivers, but not including New England points have concurred in the reductions decided upon by Pacific Coast lines, and it is expected that the New England lines will extend their concurrence at an early date.

One Cent Per Pound

The reductions decided upon contemplate publication of a rate of $1 per 100 pounds on iron and steel bars, bands, bolts, horse shoes, plate and sheet iron, nails, wires, cast iron pipe, structural iron, rods, billets, pig iron, wrought iron pipe, and car and locomotive wheels and axes. The present rate is $1.83½ from New York and $1.66 from Pittsburgh. A rate of $1.15 has been agreed upon on pipe fittings, $1.30 on wire fencing, $20 per gross ton on rails and fastenings and $1.30 on wire netting and fencing per 100 pounds.

"The establishment of these rates will be contingent upon the Interstate Commerce Commission granting carriers permission to waive the requirements of the long and short haul clause of the Commerce Act in making the rate applicable to Pacific coast points only," Luce said.

"Application is being made to the commission for authority to waive the long and short haul clause, and the concurrence of the lines east of Chicago will materially assist the Pacific Coast lines and Pacific coast merchants and jobbers in their effort to have the rates published."

BIG SALE OF BOGUS MILK IS FEARED BY DAIRYMEN

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Unless Congress enacts a bill proposed to put a ban on manufacturing of bogus milk, production of milk-substitutes, which have been proved injurious to health, will be forced upon New York and other milk-distributing companies, according to Arthur W. Milburn, president of the Borden Condensed Milk Company.

The milk-substitutes lack vitamines and other ingredients essential to promoting growth to an infant. Last year 87,000,000 pounds of condensed skimmed "milk," in which the butter fat has been replaced by cocoanut oil or other vegetable fats, were sold in the United States. As this sort of product has been on the market for only three years its growth is considered alarming by the manufacturers who believe in retaining butter fat in condensed milk for its nutritive qualities.

Feeding children on milk from which all the butter fat has been extracted may result in pellagra and kindred diseases, Mr. Milburn said.

Substitutes Condemned

In a brief filed with the Agricultural Committee of the House, which is holding hearings on the Voight bill to prohibit substitute milk, the Borden Company, through its attorney, Walter Engels, referred to testimony by Dr. McCullom, of Johns Hopkins University, in which he condemned the substitution of vegetable oils and fats for butter fat, on the ground that public health would not permit of the sale of this article.

Retail grocers sell the substitute milk on the same terms as condensed milk containing butter fat and often at the same price, according to Mr. Milburn, although the cost of manufacture is $1.70 a hundred pounds, compared with $4.41 for milk containing butter fat.

"The problem is no imaginary one," said Mr. Milburn. "With cocoanut, peanut and cottonseed oils competing with butter fat, there is bound to be a decided slump in our dairy industry. The milk supply rises and falls with the price obtained for the article. The butter fat replaced by foreign oils and fats creates a surplus to be used in other products, such as full cream butter and cheese, oversupplying the market and reacting in decreased production. Last year 7,000,000 pounds of cocoanut oil replaced a like amount of butter fat in evaporated milk and put 8,000,000 extra pounds of butter on the market that competed with and lowered the price of creamery butter. The public may see in this a benefit, but it is of a very temporary character, since a lower price for milk products has always curtailed production and induced the sale of cows for meat."

GOLD MEDALS GIVEN TO MINE HEROES

By HARRY WARD,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The unsung, unheralded hero who performs his deeds of valor thousands of miles from the bullet-swept battlefields, in dark underground crannies reeking with deadly gases that attend mine explosions and fires, is to be accorded well-merited recognition at the International First Aid and Mine Rescue Meet in St. Louis, Mo., on September 1-3.

Gold medals and diplomas of valor for saving, or dying in the attempt to save the lives of their fellow miners will be awarded to twelve heroes of mine disasters, or their nearest surviving relatives, by Foster Bain, director of the United States Bureau of Mines on behalf of the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association. The meet is to be held under the auspices of the Bureau of Mines, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, the National Safety Council and various miners' and operators' associations.

Will Award Medals

Medals will be awarded to K. P. Krueger, Lew E. Ryan, Frank Pierce, Herbert Farlin, George Reichert and John Gregovich, Butte, Mont., miners, for their efforts to save the life of a surveyor who was overcome by gases from a mine fire in the Leonard mine. Medals will be presented to nearest relatives of Francis Henry Murphy and William Ferrington, of Franklin, Kan., who lost their lives in a mine near there in an effort to rescue two shot-firers who were imprisoned following an explosion in the mine and who were later found dead.

Alex Oglivie and Thomas Gold, of Lehigh, Okla., will each receive a medal for extricating at great risk a worker who accidentally came in contact with an electrically charged wire. Medals will be presented to the nearest relatives of Lasco Robinson and Clarence Williams, of Degnan, Okla., who died in their attempt to warn miners of an impending explosion from an accumulation of gas within the mine. Before they reached the men to give warning, the gas accumulated and the explosion occurred, resulting in the loss of ten lives, including their own.

Will Work For Safety

The Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association was founded in 1915 to honor the memory and continue the work of Joseph A. Holmes, the first director of the Bureau of Mines and the popularizer of the slogan "Safety First!" The association is completing its plans for the formation of local safety chapters of the national parent organization. The proposed chapters, it is hoped, will be the means of bringing together the miners and mine officials as common workers in the great cause of making safer the operation of the 35,000 mines, quarries and smelters in which a million men do their daily toil.

Among the speakers at the meet will be Governor A. M. Hyde, of Missouri, John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America; Representatives Marion E. Rhodes, chairman of the House Committee on Mines and Mining; H. Foster Bain, Director Bureau of Mines, and J. G. Bradley, president of the National Coal Association.

MILLIONS IN TOLL IS TAKEN BY TWELVE EASTERN FIRMS

By WILLIAM J. HUSKE,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30.—Twelve Cleveland manufacturing concerns have been practically put out of business recently by Federal officials charged with enforcement of the Volstead act, but before this was done they made profits of more than $11,000,000 in the illicit sale of alcohol to the bootlegging trade of Northern Ohio, according to a statement by W. A. Weygandt, Federal prohibition agent in charge of inspection among manufacturing concerns, drug stores and physicians.

These twelve concerns, according to Weygandt, did a business that would make a Western land office in the days of the "dirt" craze envious, and the profits they charged on their stuff would make Captain Kidd or any of the pirates of an older and more moderate day turn in their graves.

Sold at 50c per Gulp

At least 90,000 gallons of alcohol, according to his figures, for which manufacturers of "hair tonic" or "flavoring extract" paid $6 per gallon ultimately found its way down the dusty throat of some bootlegger's customer at fifty cents per gulp, showing the tidy margin between manufacturer's cost and the price paid by the consumer of $11,000,000.

Activities of the enforcement branch of the Federal and State Governments have not tended to discourage the activities of "manufacturers," Weygandt says. One man wants to start a "flavoring extract" plant and has an application pending for a permit to buy alcohol in carload lots.

"I do things on a big scale," he explains, with an airy wave of the hand. "Don't get the idea that I'm a piker."

This carload shipment would not run his "plant" a year or a month, when he gets going good. "I expect to use at least a carload a week," he told the inspector.

Bogus Invoices Made Out

Among the methods used by some of these manufacturers to escape detection was the sending broadcast to druggists and others of receipted "invoices," acknowledging payment for goods never ordered and never received. Retail pharmacists all over northern Ohio have received these bogus "invoices," it was said.

One concern, which is reputed to have made a profit of one million dollars last year, shipped 442 gallons of "hair tonic" in one month to a town boasting a population of 8,000. There was enough "tonic" in that burg to use well toward a pint on the head of every man, woman and child in the town.

"Not all manufacturers of barbers' supplies and flavoring extracts are engaged in the illicit trade," Weygandt said. "Many of them are doing a legitimate business, but this has been one of the loopholes most frequently and profitably used by those seeking fortune if not fame through the breaking of the prohibition law."

Production of coal in the Saare district, formerly under German conrtol, but now under French occupancy, increased approximately 500,000 tons in 1920 over that of 1919. The working personnel of the mines, which mounted to 63,778 in January, 1920, totaled 69,055 in June and 71,383 in December.

There are now in Japan only 19 shipbuilding companies capable of constructing vessels of more than 1,000 tons gross, while there were over 70 during the war.

Approximately 200,000,000 feet of lumber will be cut on crown lands in New Brunswick during the present year.

GEORGE MAY FAMILY ON WAY HERE FROM TOLEDO, OHIO

George May and family, who went back to Toledo, Ohio, the old home, a few months ago, have already repented of their rashness and are now on their way to the land of the setting sun once more. This is their third trip to California, and Mr. May wrote a friend here that it would be for good this time. He owned a store in Toledo, which he left in charge of a relative when he came out here the second time. When he went back in the spring he at once set to work to sell and succeeded. Then he bought a big new car, and early last week started over the Lincoln highway, with Glendale as the objective point.

They lived at 222 South Glendale avenue when here before.

In San Juan, Porto Rico, members of the Porto Rican legislature have appealed to the Congress of the United States for national sovereignty. The organized workers oppose the plan and declare it is advocated by monarchists. The workers call upon the independents to grant some degree of economic freedom to labor, and they insist that their struggle for this economic freedom will not be diverted by a political issue. The former monarchists and industrial barons are exploiting the island throught trustification of the sugar and tobacco industry.

The British government has for some time been urging the building trades to absorb at least 50,000 ex-service men in the industry, but thus far the trades have refused to do it.

THE COAL SITUATION

The officials of the United Mine Workers, at Indianapolis, have no words of optimism regarding the coal situation. They report 150,000 miners idle full time and thousands of others idle part time because of inactivity in the coal industry. The public is not buying coal and the mine operators are not mining. It is estimated that coal production for the country is about 65,000,000 tons below the average for the last four years.

If this is true, it is not surprising that a coal shortage is being predicted, for coal shortages have been predicted for the last four years, when production was greater than at present. An exceptionally mild winter last year is the only thing, coal men say, which averted a very drastic shortage.

That the public is not buying coal should cause no great surprise. Whatever the facts may be, thousands of people refuse to regard the situation in any other light except from the viewpoint of comparative prices. The farmer has seen his products drop to pre-war prices, and he does not understand why coal should be going up at this time. The laboring men are accepting wage reductions, and they are unable to understand advancing coal prices. Food, clothing and practically everything else except shelter is coming down and coal goes up. The situation is incongruous, to say the least.

The mine operators, of course, have their side of the question. The wage scale in the mines is fixed until 1922; freight rates have advanced until now it costs more to haul a ton of Illinois coal to Nebraska than the coal costs at the mine; decreased business, with a more or less inflexible overhead expense, makes it impossible to shave margins. So the operator says he cannot reduce prices.

But, after all, is the coal industry any different from other industries in this respect? The railroads, for example, could reduce rates if they had more business, and they would have more business if rates were reduced. So it is with the coal business. It is simply a question of who is going to make the sacrifice. Is the public going to pay high prices to start the ball rolling, or are the industries going to operate at cost, or even at a loss, in order to start the ball? If there is any obligation on either side, it is on the part of industry, for the public is without leadership and co-ordination, whereas business has leadership.

The coal situation in America is a reflection upon the business ability of the industry's leaders and upon the government, which is the sole representative of the public. Coal is a God-given product, stored away in the bowels of the earth for the benefit of all mankind. It is not created by the hand of man, nor is its use intended for the favored few. That each year the people of the United States should face a situation such as exists this year or last, or the year before, is ridiculous. There is nothing speculative about it; everyone knows within a few thousand tons just how much coal the people are going to need during the coming year to keep them warm. That men should be idle and production lag is outrageous.

Those who oppose future trading in wheat and corn can hardly point to the coal industry for argument. The nation's grain supply is thrown on the market within a comparatively short time. Wheat that is threshed in August may not be used until the following spring, and yet the miller does not refuse to grind it, the Board of Trade does not refuse to contract for it, the farmer does not refuse to thresh it, because the public is not ready for it. It is possible, since the consumer's demand for coal is generally limited to the fwe winter months, that some system of future trading in the coal industry will come into existence and solve the problem of inconstant production. Certainly the present system is intolerable.

RUSSIA INVITES HERSELF

No sooner had the proposed disarmament conference been expanded to include questions of the Pacific than the Russian soviet government sent to the government at Washington a message of surprise and resentment at not having been invited. So long as the conference was apparently limited to the subject of disarming, Russia was disinterested, for the perfection of such a program might include the disbanding of the Red army, which is the backbone of the soviet government.

Russia's impudent note to the American govrenment need not be taken seriously, however. At the most, it was probably intended for home consumption. That is, the soviet is always eager to impress Russains of its importance in world affairs. The soviet note, of course, disregards the fact that this governmnt does not and has never recognized the Moscow government.

If Secretary Hughes chooses to pay any attention to the soviet message, he might find inspiration in Lord Curzon's recent note to Moscow. Only last month, probably for the purpose of creating an impression at home, Tchitcherin sent a note offensive to the British government, in connection with the upset at Vladivostok. Russia asserted that to be an act of hostility on the part of Great Britain. But Lord Curzon, secretary of foreign affairs, returned the note as "unacceptable" and pointed out that it is neither customary nor good manners for one government to "address baseless charges" to another. The note ended up by curtly declining "to enter into any correspondence with you on the matter."

Secretary Hughes would be committing no breach of international etiquette by wholly ignoring the soviet note. However, if he deems an answer necessary, it should be direct and couched

Dear Editor:

The Millionaire's Club of Happiness and Contentment of the Green Verdugo Hills cordially invites you to come out from the roaring town with its walled canyons of everlasting din and hurry and strife, to the peaceful vale of Monte Vista and fill a long suffering pair of lungs with a bountiful and exhiliarating aroma of wild buckwheat, heatherbloom sage and many additional aromatic flowers of the mountain chapparel, and, by the same token, empty them again each evening to the tune of "Annie Laurie," "Old Folks at Home," "Let the Rest of the World Go By," and any or all of the old familiar tunes as the spirit moves the neighbors to sing at the community campfire, while the foolish automobilists are racing up and down the Calabasas road in a vain quest for happiness where none exists.

The Club is keeping open house from September 2 to 6 and will have the tobacco jar heaped full at all hours at its headquarters at the post-office steps, where a "Henry Clay" or "Old Missouri" will be loaned for the asking, and will have the Big Book open for new members to register in.

It'll not cost a danged cent to join the club and there are no dues, and you can have a check on the Bank of Joy, signed by the President and Treasurer with the amount left blank so that you can fill it out for whatever sum of Happiness and Contentment you need.

Bring the folks along also, for, by gollies, I came near forgetting to tell you that the neighbors here in the Green Verdugo Hills are giving their Moon Festival to help the boys of the American Legion pay for their home and club house. There will be dancing for the frivolous, music for the lovers, popcorn, candy and a merry-go-round for the kiddies, and the dickens of a good time for everybody, old and young.

JONAH AND THE WHALE

"Editor Daily Press:

"Having read the Whale story, which appeared in your issue of The Press of the 22nd inst., I would beg a little valuable space that I might add a little to the story. I conclude that the writer has spent more time reading Chinese and Mohammedan literature than he has in studying the Bible or acquainting himself with its Author in viewing His handiwork, as shown in the starry heavens by night and in the earth by day.

"The Bible account of the whale story, to my mind, is very clear of itself, as it states that the Lord prepared a great fish. The word "prepared" signifies to make "suitable" for the "occasion." A simple illustration may make it more clear to the mind of the writer of the article under consideration.

"A little while before the automobile appeared upon the world's stage of vehicles, I was visiting a friend in the country, and he, having arranged to exchange his open two-seater for one with a top, invited me to accompany him to the city where the exchange was to be made. Upon returning to his home in the afternoon, he soon discovered that the door of his carriage house was much too small to admit the new vehicle, as it was designed for a smaller one.

"Well, what shall be done? The inside was plenty large for the new occupant, so it was readily seen that the entrance must be "prepared" for the admittance of the larger one, as the "occasion" required it. Soon, the heading above the door was taken out and the boards shortened, as the "occasion" required, the heading replaced and the larger occupant wheeled in as readily as a baby carriage.

"After reading the article, I thought of the two little lads of my friend, about the ages of three and six years. They had not built that carriage house and could not see how it could be adjusted to the present condition. So, instead of each putting his two hands over his eyes and crying loudly, and thus "publishing" it to the near neighbors that the new carriage could never go into that carriage house, for such a thing was impossible, and thus doubting the father's ability to remedy his own building, they watched with interest the making of the change, ready to say: 'I knew my daddy could make it all right.'

"Should it be thought a thing incredible for the builder of the whale to make any change in its make-up, should it become necessary to the mind of the builder? How small the whale is, compared to the framing of our world, with all its vast component parts, and then frame it with other much larger and smaller worlds into a vast universe of monster suns and sun centers, and marking the path for each in which to travel.

"When I was a little lad I watched my father do many things which were impossible for me to do, but I never doubted his ability. How vast the difference in his ability when compared to that of my heavenly Father. What a condescension that he should manifest His unfailing love for disobedient Jonah in preparing that great fish for the saving of his life, thus giving him another chance of redeeming his sinful conduct. And not only to give him a new trial, but that the exceedingly wicked city of Nineveh might have a new trial in life.

'What a beautiful symbol of God's love and saving grace was that salt so lavishly distributed on those turbulent waves of that eventful day. How forcibly it should remind us of the sacrifice of the Author of the Bible and His only Son, in framing the plan of redeeming grace and thus giving the human race a new trial for life, and so lavishly distribute it amid the turbulent human billows of the lost world. Like the great fish which was on time to save Jonah, so the plan of redemption was just in time as our ancestors stepped outside their lost Eden home; it was hung out the star of hope, and so remains to this day. Oh, how wonderful! But to my mind, the greatest wonder, and sad beyond human expression, is that even one human being could be found placing his hands over his eyes, thus ignoring God's Word and amazing grace, and desiring that others should follow him in his blindness, in the downward way. I say this is the climax of wonders.

Readers, let us stay with the good old Book, and ever be loyal to its Author.

"S. THURSTON."

DR. EINSTEIN STATES THAT RELATIVITY IS VERY SIMPLE

Denies That Only Ten Men in World Besides Himself Understands Theory

PITTSBURG, Pa., Aug. 30.—Dr. Albert Einstein, noted German scientist, denies a widely circulated report attributed to him that only ten men in the world are capable of comprehending his theory of relativity. The denial is made in a letter just received by George H. Lepper, Pittsburgh attorney and scientist,

Dr. Einstein's letter, written from Wustrow, Germany, July 30, is a reply to a challenge of the Pittsburgher as to the soundness of Einstein's general theory of relattivity and the current version of the Michaelson-Morley experiment, its cornerstone.

"Every earnest student of theoretical physics is in a position to comprehend," says Dr. Einstein, discussing his theory and adds that it is up to every student to either accept Einstein's theory or Newton's, as the two are in conflict.

"In order to cause refraction effect equal to that observed, a gaseous atmosphere would be needed producing a density so as to be, for other seasons, wholly inadmissable," the letter says.

"The perihilial movement of Mercury is the only anomalous one in our planetary system which has been sufficiently attested. The complicated motion of the moon has not been accounted for between theory and observation," says Einstein. "The doppler effect is susceptible of explanation on the basis of the relativity—more completely and simply than is found possible upon any earlier theory. The displacement of the spectral lines demanded by the general theory of relativity, must not be confounded with the doppler effect; the former, has not been proved to exist by experiment, but neither has the contrary been shown."

Einstein then says the question of either is so big that he cannot discuss it in this letter, but refers to his published lecture on the subject.

NEW MEXICO GUNNERS ARE IN THE LEAD

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The battleship New Mexico, flagship of the Pacific fleet, is perhaps one of the best if not the best, fighting ship afloat, on the basis of exercises recently completed. This vessel came off with highest honors for battleship efficiency, gunnery and engineering of any ship in her class of the American navy.

NEW IRISH HUNGER STRIKE ANNOUNCED

DUBLIN, Aug. 300.—Irish hunger striking on the biggest scale ever attempted, was threatened today. More than 400 interned Irish Republicans on Spike Island sent a message to the governor of the prison that they would all go on a hunger strike tonight unless 20 prisoners, already on hunger strike, were released. The communication said in part:

"We will take this action to bring the opinion of the civilized world to bear upon the inhuman treatment accorded by Great Britain."

DESPITE U. S. FAMINE RELIEF MILLIONS DIE

By HARRY L. ROBERS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.—There seems to be not the slightest doubt that millions of Russians will die this winter of hunger and disease, despite the best efforts that the American Relief Association and kindred organizations may put forward.

More than 12,000,000 inhabitants are already directly affected by the famine, official reports to the State Department show, and these conditions are expected to become worse and wohse as the fall stocks of foodstuffs on hand dwindle, and the cold weather adds its terrors to those of hunger.

The Bolshevist authorities are saying little of those twin plagues, cholera and typhus, which are stalking with giant strides through the ill-fated country, but apparently reliable information here indicates that these dread diseases may soon rival the famine in the number of their victims.

75,000 Cases of Cholera

Moscow officials now admit 75,000 cases of cholera, with tacit acknowledgement that the disease is on the increase. In the period from January 1 to July 15 official Soviet organs in Moscow reported 47,000 cases, of which more than 15,000 had occurred in the single month of June. As communication with the more accessible districts is notoriously poor, it is regarded as certain that the actual number of cases is vastly greater than the official reports would indicate.

That the present situation is fraught with danger for the Bolshevist regime is regarded by officials here as axiomatic. The rule of Lenine and Trotzky, it is pointed out, has been the rule of a small but dominantly militaristic minority over a huge but exceedingly docile majority.

The inevitable tendency of the Russian peasant, it is pointed out, is to hold the Bolshevists, whom he has always regarded with suspicion at best, responsible for the evils which now beset him. Coupled with this feeling is his prejudice against the Jews, which is both religious and racial. Because of the fact that many official positions of importance in the Bolshevist regime are held by Jews, he is apt to merge his antipathies, and predictions of general attacks upon both the Soviet government and upon the Jews as a race are contained in reports of many observers now coming out of Russia.

Soviets Realize Danger

Officials here believe the Soviet authorities are fully aware of the dangers which threaten their government as a result of the present conditions in Russia. It is for that very reason, they say, that the Bolsheviki were so eager to gain control, if possible, of the distribution of the relief. The American prisoners who have just arrived in the Baltic States have reiterated to government officials and to officers of the various relief organizations, their belief that Americans should have absolute supervision of the distribution of supplies.

If the Soviet officials are allowed to distribute the relief, they assert, only Soviet sympathizers would receive the relief and the real Russian people would be allowed to starve, as there cannot hope to be sufficient supplies for all. Many administration officials have shown resentment of the attitude taken by some of the Soviet authorities and much of the Soviet press. If anything is to be judged from the views expressed in the Soviet press, they declare, the Communists apparently regard it as a favor that they should allow the United States to save the Russian people from starvation.

Million Tons of Breadstuffs Needed

While the feeling is growing that there must be concessions on both sides as to the exact degree of restraint which is to be placed upon the activities of relief workers, there is also a distinct conviction among administration officials that the Russian people as a whole should know that the relief is coming from outside Russia and not from the Bolshevist government. Otherwise, it is pointed out, American organizations would merely be giving their assistance in a process of prolonging the life of the Soviet regime, a government with which both the Democratic and Republican administrations in the United States have refused to deal.

Estimates by Moscow officials of the immediate needs if the ravages of famine are to be checked call for a million tons of breadstuffs to be distributed in ten provinces. In the middle Volga district the famine situation is especially serious, and not less than 2,160,000,000 pounds of foodstuffs will be required in that district alone.

These estimates are not inclusive of the amounts of grain necessary for seed purposes if there is to be a crop next year. Not less than 252,000,000 pounds of grain are required before September 1st, in order that the fields may be sowed before the winter frosts. Indications are that very little winter grain will be sowed because of the difficulty of transporting the seed, even if it were available.

Coal Production is Now Reduced

That the pinch of the fuel famine is making itself felt is shown by official reports issued in Moscow to the effect that the coal production programme of the whole of Russia has been reduced to less than half. In the Don region, the greatest coal producing area of Russia, production is below one-fourth of normal.

Both the famine and the cholera are conducing to this deplorable situation, as miners are fleeing literally in droves in their efforts to reach food and safety. These migrations of the inhabitants from one stricken area to another are characteristic of the whole country, reports showing that between four and five million persons are affected by the movements.

Realizing the importance of replenishing the fuel supply of the country, the Bolshevist authorities are making special efforts to keep the miners at work, and are diverting considerable supplies of food to the mining districts. Through the necessity of supplying coal for locomotives, the fuel problem is linked in an importatnt manner with the question of famine relief.

Railroads, Only 30 Per Cent Efficient Hamper Relief Work

As has been shown by the official reports from Moscow, a few districts in Russia will produce more than enough to feed their own populations. Unless some means is available for transporting this surplus grain to the less fortunate districts, however, it will have no effect in alleviating the general shortage.

The railroads are only about 30 per cent efficient, because of the lack of locomotives and rolling stock, and even this inferior degree of efficiency is menaced by the shortage of fuel. ing upon the relief work proposed by ing up the relief work proposed by Mr. Hoover and other organizations, as transportation facilities must be available in goodly measure when American relief supplies begin to pour in from Danzig, Riga and Reval.

Mr. Hoover has stated that he is ready to care for 1,000,000 starving children. One of the most difficult problems in connection with this undertaking is expected to be that of securing proper transportation for these supplies from the Russian border into the various towns and villages in the interior.

MOST SERIOUS IN MANY MONTHS

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The rioting at Belfast throughout the night was described as the most serious in months in dispatches today from that city, carried by the Central News. The police and military detachments were engaged in subduing snipers who had posted themselves at corners, and on roofs. All street lights were out but burning dwellings cast an eerie flare over the combatants. Queen street houses were set afire.

A dispatch from Belfast printed by the Star, said that armed Orangemen and gunmen directed from four points of the city, attacked the Catholic areas of the city, centering at Queen and New Lodge streets.

INITIATION OF NEW ELKS

The Elks' Club meeting last evening was marked by a good attendance for a summer night, but was not what would be called a big meeting. Eight candidates were initiated and following the ceremonies a very nice musical program was put on by Ed Albright and Lewis A. Kerwin, pianist, who furnished the accompaniment for Mr. Albright's songs.

DEPUTY SHERIFF SERVES LONG HOURS

Deputy Sheriff and Mrs. R. Lee Couts, who reside at 230 West Colorado street, had expected ere this to make a long anticipated auto trip to the Yosemite, but there have been too many criminal cases needing the personal attention of the sheriff. Mrs. Couts says he is kept on the go night and day and just now he is at work rounding up the robbers of the Los Angeles Trust and Savings bank at Huntington Park. She pointed out the resemblance between this case and the Hudson-Brown robbery of the Hellman bank in which three men were directly involved and two women indirectly. She says Los Angeles is becoming as great center for criminal operations as Chicago or New York, and she is getting quite discouraged over her husband's vacation prospects.

But It Was Sad Reality.

The Way to Success.

Nervous energy is back of that quality of enthusiasm which puts life and ginger into one's efforts. Energy is chiefly the basis of that spirit of ambition without which one is not impelled to strive for heights above the common level. It is inevitable that the man lacking in ambition and enthusiasm will remain where he is. He cannot and will not climb because he lacks the internal incentive, the spur and the driving power, by means of which energetic men push their way upward.—Physical Culture.

Couldn't Prove It by Him.

Lyle was the owner of a puppy of which he was fond. So when the dog became sick and had to be killed everything possible was done to keep Lyle from hearing of it. Some time afterward I went to call on his mother, and, not knowing of the dog's fate, I asked Lyle where it was. "Oh," he said, "it's dead, I guess, but I don't know it."—Chicago Tribune.

Burma Excels in Rice Growing.

Burma is the world's great rice-exporting center, and Rangoon is the chief rice port in the world. The amount of rice exported each year from the four ports of Burma is about equal to that shipped from Siam and French Indo-China combined, and the export from Rangoon is nearly equal to the combined export from the ports of Saigon and Bangkok.

Combines Three Signals.

A newly designed triple-tone electric bell yields a clear ring from one push button, a buzz from the second, and a combined ring and buzz from the third. The buttons may be placed on three different doors of a house, or in office or shop the signals may be used for calling three different persons.

Justifiable Curiosity.

It happened last night that Occy Wattles dropped onto the same seat he held the night before at the movie show. But the gum he left sticking under the seat the first night was gone last night. Mr. Wattles doesn't want the gum, but he does confess to a very natural curiosity to know who did get it.—Kansas City Star.

Some Fish.

"In my entire piscatorial experience," said the truthful traveler, "I never came across a fish so accommodating as the shovel fish of South America. It has a snout the shape of a shovel and it will jump on the bank and dig bait for you to catch it with."—New Haven Register.

New Rock-Boring Machine.

A new machine fitted with pneumatic hammers and chisels is able to bore through hard rock at the rate of about nine feet in 24 hours. This machine was used in subway work in New York city, and marked a great advance in swift, safe and cheap rock tunneling.

No Office Cat.

A tradition of the office cat around a newspaper survives from earlier times, but it is only a tradition, for there is no such animal, notes an exchange. Probably he, or she, was once endured because of his supposed efficiency as a hunter of rats and mice, but no modern office is infested with rodents, and therefore it is not necessary that it should tolerate a cat.

West Virginia Calls on United States

Monday night a train from the Coal River district passed through Madison bearing about 200 armed strikers.

It is feared this invasion of Logan county by miners will result in bloody strife between the strikers and the authorities. A courier from Madison was sent to Logan county Monday, and when he returned last night he reported conditions in the neighboring county "very bad," according to Prosecutor Mullens.

The courier brought back the report that about 1700 miners from outside points have joined the Logan county strikers, swelling the ranks of the latter to about 5000 men. The majority of these men are armed. Steps have been taken by Logan county authorities to deal with the outbreak which is expected.

Airplanes operating under the direction of Sheriff Don Chafin continue their scouting duty and reconnoitering the positions of the miners.

Three more of Sheriff Chafin's deputies have been taken prisoner by the miners, it is reported here. Seven had previously been reported captured.

A machine gun nest on Hewitt Creek, guarded by three deputies, was surprised by the miners, the deputies made prisoners and the machine guns, with a number of high-powered rifles, and ammunition, captured.

Communication between here and Logan is chiefly by courier, most of the telephone wires between Boone and Logan counties having been cut.

$75,000 BUILDING IS PLANNED FOR SOUTH BRAND

Two new business blocks soon will be constructed in Glendale, showing that this city is doing anything but standing still along the building line.

Within a short time, the Rommel Construction Company, 131 South Brand boulevard, will begin the construction of a brick structure, 50 by 140 feet, at the northeast corner of Doran and Brand, the estimated cost of the improvement to be something like $500,000. This building will contain three business rooms on Brand boulevard and four on Doran, and it is stated that when this improvement is completed it wil be one of the finest business structures in Glendale.

On the second floor of this building will be a number of double and single apartments.

The other business block, which, it is understood, will be started at once, will also be constructed at the corner of Brand and Doran, on the southwest corner. This building will be constructed by the Rommel Construction Company for M. M. Gillespie. It will be a two-story brick block and will contain three store rooms on the Brand frontage and two on Doran. It is stated that the cost of this improvement will be about $25,000. On the second floor of this building there will be six double apartments.

DRUG ADDICTS TRIPLE IN THREE YEARS

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—There are three times as many drug addicts in New York City since prohibition went into effect, according to Bird S. Coler, Commissioner of the Department of Public Welfare.

In 1916 Department of Public Welfare hospitals treated only 116 cases. This number leaped to 339 in 1919 and 493 in 1920. These figures, it was pointed out, represented but a small proportion of the total number treated for the drug habit in this city.

GOLD IS GARNERED FROM SUNKEN SHIP

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The little treasure-seeking expedition, which left Portsmouth Harbor in the Admiralty boat, Racer, some weeks ago, to resume work on the Laurentic, the liner that was torpedoed and sunk during the war off the Irish coast, has succeeded in recovering another large quantity of bullion.

How much the ingots raised are worth, the Treasury refuses to disclose, but the amount is known to be substantial.

Mrs. Maude Perkins of New York, national director of young people's work in connection with the Women's Christian Temperance Union, who has been the guest of Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Chamber of Commerce Elects New Members

At the meeting today the regular routine of business was taken up and a number of matters of importance were discussed.

Two representatives of the Moki Liquid Food Corporation were present in the interest of their firm. These men are looking for a location for the western branch of the company they represent and they believe that Glendale is just the place for them.

The business meeting held today was preceded by a luncheon, which was held at the Crown Cafe on North Brand boulevard. The meeting was well attended. It was the unanimous opinion of those present that the Merchants' Exposition, which is being held in the big tent, is the greatest thing of its kind ever to be held in Glendale. Much good to Glendale will result from this exposition, it is believed.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Mrs. E. A. Cunningham, sister of J. T. Peart, 111 East Elk avenue, arrived yesterday from Richmond, Va., to visit her mother, Mrs. Jane Peartt of North Louise street, and other relatives. It is the first visit she has made her mother since Mrs. Jane Peart came to Glendale two years ago. J. T. Peart and family have been here about seven years, but have never disposed of their home in Richmond.

* * *

Miss Luquear Elwell of Seattle, is here visiting her sister, Mrs. B. F. Johnson, 745 East Wilson street. She will be here for some time.

* * *

Miss Alta Lovell has returned from a three weeks' absence in San Francisco and the Yosemite Valley.

Mrs. Harry J. Simpson, who lives at 319 Salem street, with her son and daughter, has just returned from Laguna Beach, where they spent a week or ten days.

MEN'S FASHIONS TO FEATURE REVUE

The crowd at the exposition last night was just as big as on the opening night and just as enthusiastic. The booths are all completed and ready for inspection, and the public enjoyed the talk handed out, the novelties given away and all the things in the way of food and drink that tempt the appetites.

Just as many free coat-hangers were offered to unsuspecting patrons by that incorrigible joker, C. E. Neale, of Neale & Gregg, who gravely handed out to all who said they would like a coat-hanger a 10-penny nail.

The fashion revue last night, put on by the Hatz Shop, was decidedly impressive. Mr. Hatz used six models and showed 18 garments. Especially strong was his showing of furs. A sealskin coat with collar and cuffs of squirrel, valued at $450, made a considerable sensation among the many women in attendance, who had delayed their departure until the revu ewas over, although it was not called until 9:30. Two large squirrel capes, valued at $300 each, also made a hit. Some very fetching animal scarfs and chokers in stone martin, were displayed with plain tricotine dresses, and made a very pretty outfit. The hats which gave the final note of effectiveness in the showing, were from the Gilbert Millinery.

The next showing by Mr. Hatz will be made on Wednesday and Saturday evenings.

Tonight the H. S. Webb store and Robinson's Men's Shop will give a revue.

CONGRESS TO ACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The peace treaty with Germany will be submitted to the Senate immediately on the reconvening of that body on September 20, it was announced at the White House this afternoon. The President has not decided whether a message will accompany the treaty or whether it will be laid before the Senate by the chief executive in person.

"GAY PAREE" IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Aug. 30.—More than 3000 persons attended a "block party" given on Newbury street, Back Bay, by the Girls' City Club and the Scollay Square Service Club. The novelty of dancing on a Back Bay street appealed to the big crowd and the scene smacked of Gay Paree or New Orleans at Mardi Gras time.

Miss Isabel Tisdale, who made many friends in this city during her work for the Chamber of Commerce, and who has been very ill, has returned from the hospital to the home of her mother, Mrs. Gertrude Tisdale, 336 West Acacia aveue, and is gaining steadily. She is now able to be up and about the house.

MRS. ROGERS ENTERTAINS

Mrs. F. J. Rogers, entertained informally with bridge whist yesterday afternoon at her pleasant home, 535 North Kenwood. A pink and white color scheme featured the refreshments served at the close of play, the guest list including Mesdames Harry Powers, A. M. Draper, Gertrude Walker, Charles Meadows, Frank George, Heloise Bondeaux, and Charle Carroll.

MRS. PERKINS IS GUEST OF W. C. T. U.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Glendale entertained at the home of Mrs. Samuel Dick, 309 North Louise street, yesterday, in honor of Mrs. Maude Perkins, of New York, national director of the young people's branch of the W. C. T. U.

An informal program, consisting of an address by Mrs. Perkins, solo by Miss Helena Richardson, entitled "All Around the World," a solo by Miss Louise Ayaller and a solo by Everett Anderson entitled "My Task," was given. The floral decorations were given and arranged by Mrs. Hollister.

At the close of Mrs. Perkins' address, a young people's branch of the Glendale union was formed. The officers of this society were appointed as follows:

Mrs. Effie Meyer, Eagle Rock, secretary-leader; Mrs. Hays Berg, North Central avenue, president; Miss Helena Richardson, vice-president; Miss Ruth Palmer, secretary; James Sherwood, treasurer; Everett Anderson, superintendent of the evangelistic department.

The next meeting of the young people's branch of the organization will be held in two weeks at the home of R. W. Mottern, 211 North Adams.

ENGLISH ASK TRADE PEACE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—A plea that no trade barrier be permitted to "disturb or disrupt the harmony existing up to this time" between American and English business interests was made before the Senate finance committee today by Arthur Balfour, head of a delegation of English business men representing the Sheffield Chamber of Commerce.

"Let us live, let us work and let us pay you what we owe you," Balfour said, in declaring that the duties fixed on "high speed steel" in the Fordney tariff bill would wipe out English manufacturers of cutlery and tools, who, he added, are entirely dependent upon the American market.

CALLED OFF STRIKE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 30.—Telegrams were sent to the oil fields of the state rescinding the strike order under which all skilled employes of five of the big oil producing companies would have walked out Thursday because of failure to negotiate a new agreement with their men.

This action was taken at the request of the government and today the situation was in the hands of the federal oil board.

'Round the Sport Circle with Jack Veiock International News Sporting Editor.

By JACK VEIOCK
I. N. S. Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—Johnny Wilson will take no chances in his bout with Byron Downey on Labor Day.

The Charleston battler must make 160 pounds and he intends to be in tip-top condition for his return engagement with the Columbus mauler when they get together at Jersey City.

Wilson is training at Manhasset where Georges Carpentier trained for his match with Jack Dempsey. He had his first real workout Monday afternoon and after more than an hour of bag punching, rope skipping and hammering his sparring partners around, he scaled at slightly over 160 pounds.

During the remainder of the week Wilson will keep up a fast pace with plenty of road work to improve his wind and toughen his legs. He expects to go after Downey hammer and tongs from the first bell and prove his right to the middleweight crown by a knockout victory.

Wilson realizes that he must be in shape for Downey, is working like a trojan in a local gymnasium. The Buckeye battler is doing a lot of boxing with Johnny Papke, a southpaw, of Wilson's type, and Johnny Carr, a rugged boy who can give and take. Downey is a fighter, pure and simple and when he faces Wilson he hopes to repeat his performance at Cleevland by flooring the title claimant for the count.

WALKS 600 MILES TO SEE DYING SISTER

(By International News Service)

ATTALLA, Ala., Aug. 30.—When Mrs. W. C. Chambers, of this city, learned that her sister was dying in Jacksonville, Fla., she determined to go to her bedside. Lack of funds failed to shawe Mrs. Chambers' determination. Realizing that she could not make the trip by rail, Mrs. Chambers packed a few belongings into a small bundle and, accompanied by her two young sons, started the trip afoot.

The distance was nearly six hundred miles, but the plucky woman and her children covered it in ten days. She arrived in Jacksonville several days before the death of her sister.

PORT CLINTON, O., Aug. 30.—A silver coin minted by the United States in 1823 was found in the stomach of a large catfish, which was caught by I. E. Bogart in Sandusky Bay. The fisherman is displaying the coin with pride, but the age of the fish has not been determined by scientists.

TRAMPING LURES CO-EDS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Aug. 30.—Two co-eds of Syracuse University have responded to the "lure of the road." One of the girls, Winifred Hoyt, hails from Yonkers, N. Y.; the other, Marion Clifford, is claimed by Newark, N. J.

Both are sorority girls. They recently met Beatrice Rollens, of New York city, who, tanned and dressed in khaki, had "hiked" the highways for 1000 miles or more and from her learned the lesson of "the road and simple life." They decided to try it.

PERSIAN GARDEN PLANS DISCUSSED

An important meeting of members of the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Parker on North Orange street to discuss plans for the great out-of-door music fete to be held under the auspices of the section in Verdugo Woodlands, September 17.

Mrs. Parker, who headed the original committee of arrangements, stated that not only would this be the first fete of this character to be held in Glendale, but it would be the first time the Persian Garden had been given in any such manner outside of New York City.

William Stuart, who is puting it on, was formerly the manager of the New York Hippodrome. It will be sung and acted by members of the California Opera Company and is certain to be a very fine production apart from the beauty of the setting.

Ladies present at the meeting were Mesdames C. L. Marlenee, (curator of the section); E. W. Kinney, Colin Cable, C. A. Parker, L. N. Hagood, H. D. Thaxter, Paul Hoffman, and Frank Arnold, and Misses Eva Daniels, Ina Whitaker and Gertrude Champlain.

THREE BILLIONS IN GOLD IS BEING HELD IN THIS COUNTRY

By W. H. ATKINS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Uncle Sam's pockets bulge, with gold. He has almost a "corner" on the world's supply. Treasury reports recently showed more than $3,000,000,000 or one-third of the entire stock of precious metal on the entire globe, is on American soil.

With this enormous stock of gold in our possession the truth is dawning that we have more gold than is good for us if, as a nation, we want to maintain the integrity of the gold standard. Financiers are disturbed. Government fiscal experts say that the powerful position of the American dollar in international exchange is draining other countries of gold and it is flowing to America to pay for merchandise.

Comptroller of the Currency Crissinger, giving the results of an exhaustive study of the situation, said today that this great stream of gold actually threatens us with "gold inflation."

"More Than We Need"

Here is how the comptroller views the matter:

We are accummulating more gold than we need. Other countries, by sending us their gold, are weakening their power to uphold the gold standard. The senders of this gold in large volume also lessen their ability to maintain an assured ratio of exchange and to buy what they need to use and we need to sell."

Earlier ideas of American financiers about the problem of exchange have undergone radical change since the great war. Until the war upset all previous systems a movement of gold in one direction was accepted as assurance of substantial stability in the relations of currencies.

There is not at this time a compensating movement of goods from America to the countries which are sending us their gold.

Fiscal experts continue to note the lack of freedom in commercial interchanges. In normal times such interchanges were a great equalizer and leveler in matters of international financing.

Government officials who are closest students of the problem said that the United States will be compelled to move along some line that may bring about exchange stabilization, or run the risk of seeing the gold standard gravely impaired.

Going back a few decades officials recalled that after our Civil War our own currency was impaired because of paper inflation. Other countries had drawn out a large part of America's gold. Thereby the currencies of foreign countries were more firmly established. At that period striking demonstration of America's economic capacity was shown by resumption of specie payment soon after the end of the war. Now the situation is reversed. Instead of suffering from a drought of gold we are inconvenienced by an over-supply, as relates to our ability to maintain international trade connections, which are logically American.

There are some advocates of the creation of an international currency medium for purposes of international trade. There are also many opponents to such a plan. Many American leaders believe that such a plan would operate to the disadvantage of America in the end.

U. S. Should Cooperate

Others, however, contend that with other foreign powers discriminating against the United States for the reason that American money is so much more expensive than theirs, the United States should become a participant in some international scheme to stabilize exchange.

American business is vitally affected by any plan that will stabilize exchange. American manufacturers are seeing contracts go to the nationals of other countries having lower currency values. It is now virtually impossible for America to bid against other countries in many lines of important commodities because their currencies are at a great discount, as compared with American money values.

An earnest advocate of some international plan of currency stabilization is Comptroller Crissinger. It is his view that American business men and financiers must give serious consideration to measures of this sort to assure resumption of normal production, to regain fields of trade opportunity now closed in favor of cheaper price competitors, and in order to bring about financial and industrial equilibrium over the world.

"Doug" doesn't appear to enjoy Mary's chastisement.

DOUG GETS DOMESTIC FINISH TO HIS WASH

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30.—An intimate glimpse of the home life of Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks is afforded in the enjoyment they get out of their private swimming pool at "Pickfair," their 12-acre estate near Hollywood. Here they disport themselves like children during the hours they have off from their respective studios, where "Doug" has just completed "The Three Musketeers," and Mary her "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

Incidentally, now is the first time that Mary Pickford has ever allowed herself to be photographed in a bathing suit. Her taste in swimming costume may be seen to be moderate yet attractive.

The big tank at "Pickfair" is large enough to float a canoe, and there is one in it, to be used as a plaything for guests, especially for the children of John and Robert Fairbanks, brothers of Doug, and the niece of Mary Pickford, Mary II.

As it is on the edge of the estate the pool is hidden from public view with a carefully planted forest of shrubbery. There are bathing houses accommodating a score of guests at one end of the pool, and nearby is a parked space or terrace, where tea is served at little wicker tables. Altogether the tank is a favorite spot on the estate during the mild California days.

SIMPLICITY REIGNS IN FASHION WORLD

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Simplicity is the keynote of all fashions this season. It is decidedly noticeable in smart clothes for children.

A few distinct changes have been made. The waistline is lowered; the preferred neckline is oval; the sleeve is wider than formerly.

Paris uses black for children. In America this mode is not accepted, except in the party frock of black velvet.

So far, American women have not accepted the edict of Paris that skirts be longer. The length of children's dresses has not been altered.

Colors still hold sway. Bright hues relieve the sombre ones, while citron yellow and flamboyant red are used to lighten practical frocks of serge. This substantial material retains its favor for utility frocks, while crepe and velvet dominate for formal wear. Gay colored crepe frocks and finely embroidered batiste remain in favor as party frocks.

Noticeable among the favored wraps is the box-line, with a slight circular swing around the lower edge, making a little flare.

"Simplicity dominates the world of fashion," was the verdict rendered by the judges at the Juvenile Fashion Revue, which was held at a New York theater this week.

Not a Great Many of Him.

"A real man," said Uncle Eben, "is one dat is jes' as generous wif other people's mistakes as he is wif his own."

PITCHING HORSESHOES AROUSES DEBATE

WEBB CITY, Mo., Aug. 30.—Does the ancient and honorable game of pitching horseshoes put a "hick" sign on a town and hold it up to public ridicule.

This question has caused a row which has stirred the Webb City Chamber of Commerce to its very depths and has caused the resignation of its president, Tom Hayden, motor dealer and all-around sportsman.

Hayden was sponsor for some "barnyard golf" links in a vacant lot in the center of Webb City's business district. The clang of old horseshoes against the iron pegs and the shouts of the spectators when an accurate "heave" dislodged a humdinger of a "hubber" made more noise along "Main street" than that thoroughfare had heard in some time.

'Tis Drawing Card

Neighboring farmers soon began to look forward to a trip to the "city" with the same expectancy they did in bygone days when the tavern put out something which produced that inward glow conducive to some "mean harmony" later around the hitching stables. Every four corners hereabouts was developing a horseshoe-flinging "champeen."

But "Main street" talk and the uplift element said it made Webb City "too backwoodsy." Finally the town marshal swooped down on the horseshoe pitching sports in the midst of an exciting "rubber."

Hayden, who weighs nearly three hundred pounds, arrived just in time to save the situation.

But when the game was finished, however, he pulled up the pegs in disgust and sent in his resignation to the Chamber of Commerce.

Should horseshoes be pitched along "Main street"? Ask that question in Webb City and you've got an argument that's a pippin.

Heat-Resisting Cement.

It is often convenient to have a cement that will resist considerable temperatures. Here is the recipe for a good heat-withstanding cement: Take 50 parts of sulphur, one part of resin and one part of tallow. Melt these ingredients together and add fine powdered glass to form a paste. This cement must be heated before being used.

TORTURE EMPLOYED BY BANDITS AS IN DAYS OF OLD

(By International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Torture, reminiscent of methods of the Middle Ages, when such methods frequently were applied by bandits as well as by minions of the law, were utilized by three masked men who robbed Stephen Vassilatoulous of $2,100 in cash and Liberty Bonds at Coney Island.

Vassilatoulous conducts a dozen small booths on the boardwalk at Coney Island between the Parkway Baths and Brighton Beach. He sleeps in a room adjoining his office in the rear of one of the soft drink stands.

According to his story to the police, he woke up as three men forced their way into his place early yesterday morning. One of them threw him on the bed. While two of them attempted to open the safe in the office, the third man wrapped adhesive tape over Stephen's eyes and mouth.

They were uncessful in opening the safe. The concessionaire yelled in agony as they ripped off the adhesive tape. They poked revolvers in his ribs, and under threats of death the victim opened the safe. He then was tied to the bed.

He made a slight movement as the safe was being rifled, and his guard pulled a hair from his moustache. Each time he moved the process was repeated. Before the bandits left, practically all the hairs on one side of the moustache had been yanked out.

Stephen was told that to cry out meant certain death. After the three men left Vassilatoulous succeeded in freeing himself. The police obtained fingerprints and the numbers of the stolen Liberty Bonds.

First Use of Oars.

The idea of propelling ships independently of the wind first led to the use of oars. The discovery of land vehicles and the means of propulsion of land vehicles soon led to attempts to utilize it on behalf of vessels. It is claimed that the first attempt at this propulsion was made by Blasco de Garay, at Barcelona, in 1583.

World's Greatest Maelstrom.

The greatest whirlpool in the world is the maelstrom off the coast of Norway. It is an eddy between the mainland and an island, and when the current is in one direction and the wind is in another, no ship can withstand the fury of the waves. Whales and sharks have been cast ashore and killed. The current is estimated to run 30 miles an hour.

Advance the Result of Experience.

The world's advance is due only to the hopes, the plans, the progress and the work of living men and women who have tasted of the waters of life for themselves and know what it is to live and are determined that the rest of the world shall have life more abundantly.

Composition of the Ark.

The first ship built of which we have any description is Noah's ark. Assuming a cubit to be 18 inches, the ark was 450 feet in length, 75 feet in beam, and 45 feet in depth. It was built of gophir wood, or of cypress, which, like cedar, is suited for parts of a ship under water.

BUDGET CHIEF GAINS IN WAR ON WASTE

By W. H. ATKINS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—Charles G. Dawes, Director of the Budget, is atop of the heap again, after a mad scrimmage, with a flock of other generals and commanders of many ranks.

The "Hell-and-Maria" way of taking the short business cuts through any financial dilemma finds the famed Chicago banker, smiling and triumphant, above numerous dignatories, now mightily disturbed because the precedents they clung to have been dashed aside.

It now appears, after much discussion of the problem by the President and his Cabinet, that the Dawes way of injecting economy and efficiecy in Government administration will go through with a bang, free from interdepartmental squabbles.

President Harding has given the "go" signal to Dawes. He has put the "stop" signal to others who might have done much to delay the Dawes programme.

Red Tape Dies Hard

Soon after various executive orders were promulgated there began to show below surface indications that some departments wanted to preserve their own methods, even though they were rusty and antique.

Dawes was given unlimited authority to proceed with his plans to revolutionize the general supply offices of the Government. The order, though very explicit, apparently did not sink in among some official elements.

When Dawes found this situation the air became blue and man-sized cus words seemed to decorate the very walls of conference rooms, wherein Dawes cut loose and engulfed some of the wavering ones in a torrent of fire out of his well-known vocabulary.

It now develops that the President himself took hold of the matter. The Cabinet reviewed the situation. A new plan for cooperation was worked out. Department heads were given orders that are considered final. There will be no further warning.

The Dawes staff is cutting into department red tape. A general or an admiral who may have held undisputed sway in years past in determining on his own hook what constitutes surplus property within his own branch must give way to the Budget Bureau.

Such officials must stand aside while the Dawes machine rips through and finishes the task set before it by the President. The inventories being made of Government surplus stocks of war materials will be hastened as a result of the clearer understanding now established.

The President has removed possibilities of friction. He has made General Dawes his personal representative in the work now progressing. He has become the President's authority, when he goes into a particular department and seeks to correct present methods and set up in their stead new methods that will put Government operations upon a business-like basis.

A few heads may be hit. But it now seems clear that Dawes, with the staunchest backing of the President, has decided to wade in, wherever he thinks it necessary, and knock over precedents and personalties whenever he encounters them in his path. There is ample reason now to believe that the President is back of him all the way. There is to be no "pulling of political strings" to preserve self-constituted authority.

BRITISH-AMERICAN "SOLIDARITY" SEEN

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—"There is no shadow of doubt as to the solidarity of the goodwill existing between the "Americans and Englishmen were,

With this comment Mr. John Drinkwater summed up his experiences while on a lecture tour in the United States, from which he has just returned.

He is thoroughly optimistic about the future of the relations between the two great English-speaking nations.

"No Reason to Be Scared"

"Of course," he went on, "there is the small minority, with a loud voice, which wants watching and answering from time to time, but there is no reason to be scared about them.

"Americans and Englishmen were of course, made to like each other. Although I could not live anywhere else but in England. I have the highest regard for Americans. A man like J. W. Davis, the retiring Ambassador, for example, is the salt of the earth."

He is enthusiastic about bringing the two nations closer together by the aid of literature and the fine arts.

"Literature Moves Westward"

"It is a great pity that the great stream of literature moves westward," he commented, "there is a great and generous public for English literature in America, but one can hardly say the same here of American books."

Mr. Drinkwater suggested that some such body as the English-Speaking Union should organize a lecture tour in England for some half-dozen of the great men of American literature, giving as his reason that if England wanted to strengthen its friendship with America she should pay some of her writers the compliment that they have paid Englishmen and begin to take some interest in American works.

The Sardine.

The fresh sardine is a beautiful little fish. The scales on its back are an iridescent blue-green, the exact tint which the sea so often takes, while beneath the scales there shows up the most wonderful peacock-blue. There are bars on its back and sides when it first comes out of the water, like those of the mackerel, but they seem to fade and disappear the moment it is exposed to the air. The rest of its body is silver.

Cultivate Contentment.

CIGARETTE RAID IN KANSAS BRINGS SUIT

By International News Service

TOPEKA, Kans., Aug. 30.—As a result of a "coffin-nail" raid here recently, in which officers searched over thirty stores for cigarettes, the Kansas Anti-Cigarette League faces a suit for $5,000 damages.

G. M. Jamison, cafe proprietor, asserts that the raiding squad entered Americans and the English." commotion, but didn't find a single "pill."

Several dealers who were found with cigarettes among their wares pleaded guilty and were fined $50.

It is against the State law to sell cigarettes in Kansas, and getting a "deck" of the "ready mades" entails the same exchange of "high signs" as a transaction in bootleg whiskey does in other States.

Criterion.

A criterion is of an abstract nature and cannot properly be applied to a person. It is a standard of judging or a rule or test by which facts, principles and opinions are tried in forming a correct judgment. A person could not serve as a criterion because of the variations in human conduct. The criterion is always something which remains stable, thereby permitting other matters of a more or less uncertain nature to be tested by comparison with it, as, for example, one might say, Paris is a criterion of fashions.

POWER BOAT RACES AT DETROIT WILL BE SPEEDY

DETROIT, Aug. 30.—The classic session of the American power boat season opens today under the combined auspices of the American Power Boat Association and the city of Detroit. From now until September 5th lovers of fast motor boats will be regaled with exhibitions by the pick of the American and Canadian speed boat fleets at the Association's annual regatta.

The prize or the Detroit Trophy Race, in which single-engined hydroplanes will compete, has been put up by Mayor James Couzens, himself an ardent devotee of speed on the water. The prize is a handsome gold marine clock and barometer and will be won by the boat winning two out of three heats of thirty miles each. Among the boats entered in this event are the Miss Chicago, Miss Peerless and Vogler Boy IV.

The racing for the Harmsworth Trophy, emblematic of the world's championship, will begin with elimination races September 1 and 2. Finals will be run off September 3 and 5. Miss America, the trophy holder, and Miss America II are both entered in this event, with, among others, Vogler Boy IV, Disturber IV and No Name. A hot fight is expected from the English challenger, Maple Leaf VII, owned by Sir W. Mackay Edgar, of London, and entered by the Royal Motor Yacht Club of Great Britain.

90-Mile Race Beckons

Another hotly contested event today will be the ninety-mile A. P. B. A. gold-cup event for boats in the forty-foot and under class. Miss America, Miss America II, Baby Sure Cure and Miss Chicago are among the entries.

Other events on the crowded programme are the mile trials for the championship of North America, August 31, the Wood Fisher Trophy Race, the Great Lakes Trophy, the Sallan Trophy Race, the Miller Chance Race, for any power boat, and the Detroit News Trophy Race.

An interesting event will be the Sailing Chance Race, September 4, for sail boats of all descriptions. Entries will be received the day of the race, and the old-fashioned sailor men will have a chance to show that the art of sailing a boat has not succumbed with the advent of the speedier motor vessel.

STEAMERS PROMISED THAT WON'T ROCK

(By International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—The world is promised shortly ships that will not rock in the cradle of the deep and mariners a life on the rolling waves with all the "roll' out of it.

A nautica contrivance called the Sperry gyroscope has beaten the billows. It enables ships to be stabilized, no matter what the weather.

According to experts, vessels can be maintained within two degrees of the vertical under all conditions.

Thus it seems as though the long sought cure for sea-sickness that has so long eluded ships' doctors will eventually be found in the engine room.

American Liner First

Most of the shipping companies are considering gyroscopes, but the first liner to be fitted with this new wonder will be the American 18,000-tonner Huron, formerly known as the Friedrich der Grosse.

The value of stabilizers in war time is obvious. America is trying the gyroscope equipment on one of her destroyers, and the British Admiralty is about to follow suit.

The gyroscope stabilizer consists of two rotating wheels, or discs, thirteen feet in diameter, and weighing forty-five tons each, which may be placed in the engine room region of a ship and take up comparatively small space.

The effect of the equipment is to oppose the motion of each successive wave, so that the ship is kept traveling evenly.

A Statement by the Merchant Who Gives Glendale This Opportunity---
Personal Statement from Mr. Allison:

I have been a Painting Contractor in Glendale for over ten years. Hundreds of people know me, the high character of work I have done, the character of paints I have always used.

About six months ago I started a paint store in Glendale. Having been a painter for the best years of my life, I know how to judge quality of paint. Having had a generous patronage since the day I opened, I have NOW found it possible, by buying paint in large quantities and selling at practically cost for advertising purposes, to inaugurate a TEN-DAY SALE OF PAINT THAT WILL BE THE SENSATION OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

Hoping this SACRIFICE SALE will be of great benefit in stimulating painting, and assuring all my friends and patrons that I am offering REAL VALUES, I am very truly yours,

DENVER MECHANIC ASSERTS HE CAN HOLD GRAVITY

(By International News Service)

DENVER, Aug. 30.—Invention of a machine that will "harness gravitation" is the claim of W. F. Garbe, Denver mechanic and shopkeeper.

A working model of the new invention, which is on display in Garbe's shop, is attracting wide attention.

The machine comprises a system of wheels, around which link chains operate, there being a weight affixed to the center rigid portion of the machine which contains the axis wheel, also rigid. The weight, instead of dropping like that of a clock, revolves and thereby, Garbe declares, counterbalances the slack and produces gravitation which forms the force of the machine and which it harnesses, already for man to use.

Garbe asserts that, with his machine perfected and built to suit all purposes, it will run any kind of machinery and will eliminate the necessity of fuel in producing power.

"Will Run Indefinitely"

"Some might call my machine perpetual motion, but there is no such thing as perpetual motion," Garbe decluares. "My machine, however, will run indefinitely.

"I realize that it has been universally taught that harnessing gravitation in an impossibility, but I am confident that I have solved the problem.

"I do not claim to know what the force of gravitation is, nor does the electrical expert know the composition or force of electricity, nor the physician the force behind radium, but for more than thirty years I have been interested in the study of harnessing gravitation, having studied it from every angle, and my machine is based upon mathematics.

"Force We Cannot Understand."

We know that it is gravitation that holds the unnumbered worlds together —a force that we cannot understand.

"In Ezekiel there is mention of a 'wheel within a wheel,' and of 'the spirit of the machine,' and it is the combination of these that I have worked out. I have assembled my machine on the planetary system, with mathematical precision, and 'the spirit of the machine' is that unknown force.

"I am a practical machinist, and I am convinced that I have solved the problem of harnessing pravitation. I am perfectly willing to give demonstrations to the skeptical.

"I know with my machine I can increase or decrease power; that in my working model I can demonstrate this power, and, as it operates itself and has its own power in operation, there is no need for coal or other fuel.

"With this machine I can run a sewing machine or operate a great industry."

$60,000 HEART BALM DEMANDED BY WIFE

(By International News Service)

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 30.—Sixty thousand cold, shiny, clinking dollars forms an equivalent to lost love. Specificially so in the case of Mrs. R. C. Pate, wife of a prominent business man, who now comes into the Pulaski Circuit Court and asks $600,000 from Mrs. Martha Waddell Southard, local social favorite.

Mrs. Southard won Mrs. Pate's husband away from her, the petition charges, reciting that Mr. Pate forced his wife to remain at Fayetteville while he went away with Mrs. Southard.

Countering the action of his wife, Pate denies in toto the allegations she makes and asks the court to grant him an absolute divorce on the grounds of cruelty. He denied alleged relations with the "winsome widow" and declared that his wife's action had ruined his business career by permitting the lime light of publicity to radiate from tangled domesticity. He recently was vice-president and secretary of one of the largest wholesale produce concerns in this State.

WORST BOOTLEGGING EVIL HAS BEEN MET SUCCESSFULLY

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—"Bootleggers have been hit squarely between the eyes."

This was the gleeful view held by Roy Haynes, chief of the Prohibition Bureau.

He feels sure that one of the worst of bootlegging evils has been successfully met by the prohibiting of shipments of liquor by truck.

Commissioner Haynes said bootleggers have been getting a large part of their illicit supplies over the "truck route."

The methods have varied, he said. One of the favorite means of getting fresh liquor stocks is for bootleggers to conspire to hold up shippers en route from distillery or bonded warehouse to the person who bought the liquor.

The fact that shipments of liquor by truck have been permitted has made it exceedingly difficult, he said, to detect other movement of illicit liquors from other sources than those of distilleries.

Under orders now being enforced by Commissioner Haynes, dry law agents will keep a strict watch out on all highways and, under new methods employed, expect to be able to detect liquor caravans with less difficulty.

ONCE FIELD MARSHAL; NOW A CARPENTER

(By International News Service)

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—From Field Marshal to carpenter has been the destiny of Field Marshal-Lieutenant Tamassy, who won fame during the war as the defender of the unpronounceable Fortress of Przemysl. Tamassy spent several years as a prisoner in Siberia, where he learned the trade. Since his return he has opened a carpenter shop to keep the wolf from the door, according to the Deutche Zeitung.

Sentiment Uttered by Many.

The origin of the expression "In union there is strength" is not known, but the sentiment in various forms has been current a very long time. A Latin author of ancient times said: "By union the smallest states thrive, by discord the greatest are destroyed." The American author of "The Flag of Our Union" said: "United we stand, divided we fall."

POPULATION CUT BY DEATH OF CHILDREN

(By International News Service)

VIENNA, Aug. 30.—Although the post-war movement to the cities has crowded all of the European capitals and made the housing question acute, Vienna has one-tenth less inhabitants than in 1910, declares the Vienna Neue Freie Presse.

"The disheartening fact is that of the 190,095 inhabitants we have lost, not less than 130,000 are children. A city with such statistics is not only very sick, it is actually in the process of dying."

To Get Rid of Paint Stains.

Paint spilled on a doorstep is most unsightly, and is often rather difficult to remove. In that case make a strong solution of potash and wash the step, leaving the solution to soak in. In a short time the paint will become soft and can be washed off with soap and water. Then use cold water. Paint which has been left on for some time will yield to this treatment.

Danger in Using Drugs.

Any drug that sufficiently masters the organism to produce sleep is a dangerous remedy, unless prescribed by one's family doctor. It should not be used in any other way. By promiscuous drugging to secure sleep many well-nigh incurable cases of insomnia have been established. However, in cases attended by much nervousness, the bromides may safely be used, in doses of 15 grains at bedtime. —Exchange.
